

Cookie Policy

This cookie policy (the “Cookie Policy”) sets out how the Polish Vodka Foundation, with its registered office in Warsaw, at Square Koneser 1, 03-736 Warsaw, entered into the Register of Associations, Other Social and Professional Organizations, Foundations and Public Health Care Institutions and the Register of Entrepreneurs kept by the District Court for the city of Warsaw, 12th Economic Division of the National Court Register under KRS no.: 0000593987, NIP (tax identification no.): 5252642143, REGON (business registry no.): 363449747 (the “Foundation” or “we”), is obliged to respect the privacy of the users regarding the use of cookie files on its websites, in its applications, social media profiles and in other digital media (“Digital Media”).

1. What is a cookie file?

Cookie files (also called “cookies”) are small text or information files (“Cookie Files”) saved on the user's device (computer, smartphone or tablet) when accessing Digital Media. A Cookie File usually contains the name of the Digital Media it comes from, time of its storage (how long such a file will be saved on the user's device) and its value (usually a randomly generated unique number for the file). If required by the law, the Foundation asks the user for their consent before using the Cookie Files.

2. Why do we use Cookie Files?

We use Cookie Files to facilitate use of our Digital Media by the users and to adapt them better to their interests and needs.

This is possible because Cookie Files can be read and stored by Digital Media, allowing us to recognize the user and record important information that gives the user more convenient use of the Digital Media (for instance, by recording preference settings).

Cookie Files can also be used in order to accelerate further activities in Digital Media. We also use Cookie Files to create anonymous, general statistics allowing us to determine how users use the Digital Media and to improve the structure and contents of the Digital Media.

3. What types of Cookie Files do we use?

We can use the following types of Cookie File:

- Persistent Cookie Files record log on information and user settings for any subsequent logging on (“Persistent Cookie Files”). A Persistent Cookie File is a file saved on the user's device after closing the web browser. The Persistent Cookie File, during subsequent visits, can be read by the Digital Media that created it.
- Session Cookie Files activate some functions of the Digital Media and services. They also help us to obtain more information on the interactions between user and Digital Media and to monitor the joint use and Internet traffic (“Session Cookie Files”). Unlike Persistent Cookie Files, Session Cookie Files are deleted after closing the web browser. They usually store an anonymous session ID on the device, allowing the user to browse the Digital Media without the need to log onto every sub-site.

- Polish Vodka Foundation Cookie Files are our own Cookie Files, which are used to improve the use of the Media by the user (“Polish Vodka Foundation Cookie Files”). These are connected with the user’s personal data. The data collected via the Polish Vodka Foundation Cookie Files is not accessible to any third parties.
- Third Party Cookie Files are Cookie Files placed by third parties in order to perform their services, especially advertising Cookie Files (“Third Party Cookie Files”). These files are sent to the user’s device on our behalf when the user accesses our Digital Media, allowing third parties to provide their services. More information on Third Party Cookie Files can be found in the respective privacy policies.
